Nimitz Preparing Additional Attacks Against Jap Islands

Gilberts Now Securely in Hands of American Troops, Admiral Reports from Pearl Harbor.

By The Associated Press

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 24—American forces, overpowering savage Japanese resistance with record speed, were so firmly implanted today in the Gilberts that Adm. Chester W. Nimitz spoke confidently of "preparing to make further attacks."

"The Gilberts now are securely in our hands," said the commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet after only one of the more than 15 atolls had been conquered and as two others tottered toward a fall.

The implication was that from Makin, Tarawa and Abemama the invaders are in position to dominate and rout what Japanese troops may be on other nearby islands.

Makin has been captured. Lt. Col. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, was on hand for its fall.

Tarawa, with a fine bomber base whose importance was emphasized by the fierce resistance of an estimated 4,000 Japanese, is about to fall. The enemy forces have been pushed to the eastern shore of the main island of Betio. Many have been slain, few captured.

Abemama is being mopped up.

Admiral Nimitz, asserting the brilliantly coordinated victory "opens another road to Tokyo," said his forces were prepared for any eventuality.

Tokyo Report Grave

Tokyo radio, gravely reporting to the Japanese people that "a part of our territory has been exposed to fierce battles," speculated on the inevitability of decisive action by the long-hidden Nipponese fleet.

American leaders linked with expressions of readiness for such a move an implied doubt of its early development.

"The attack has not as yet pulled the Japs 'out of shelter,'" Navy Secretary Frank Knox said in Washington.

Admiral Nimitz expressed belief the Japanese fleet was dispersed from the Kuriles, to the north of Japan, all the way to the Dutch East Indies far to the south; that recent air blows struck at Rabaul, New Britain, against enemy cruisers and destroyers seriously had impaired enemy naval ability to retaliate in the area; and, even if Japanese units were within striking distance, the Nipponese admirals had held back in fear that the Gilbert invasion might be of a diversionary feint.

Expect Jap Attack

Nimitz foresaw violent Japanese reaction by planes and submarines from the nearby Marshalls.

"We are not immune to those attacks, but we went prepared

HOUSE ACTION ON TAXES NEAR

Vote on Two Billion Dollar Bill Expected To Come Shortly.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—The administration's controverted anti-inflation program came up for another body blow today as the house rolled toward approval of a $2,140,000,000 new revenue bill — a figurative drop in the $10,500,000,000 bucket held out by the treasury.

Rep. Robert Lee Doughton, chairman of the powerful ways and means committee, led off a bi-partisan chorus against large tax increases, declaring they could be "more crushing" than inflation.

"Too heavy a tax burden is as great a danger to the nation's economy as is too large a public debt," he said.

Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, ways and means Republican leader, attacked the administration's claim that a $10,500,000,000 tax program is essential not only for war financing but also to drain off inflationary purchasing power.

"In our opinion (speaking for Republicans) this additional burden would liquidate the great middle class, which is the bulwark of the nation," Knutson declared in a prepared address.

The second wartime tax bill, supported by both parties, makes but little revision in the burdens on individual incomes or on corporation normal and surtaxes.

British Eighth Army Drives 6 Miles Into Enemy Lines

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Nov. 24—The British Eighth army advanced six miles into enemy positions in the central portion of the Italian front to capture the village of San Angelo, only half a mile from the upper Sangro river, and occupied the deserted and devastated mountain town of Alfedena, allied headquarters announced today.

The capture of Alfedena was the result of a gain of more than five miles beyond Rionero in recent days.

Before leaving, the Germans destroyed Alfedena with explosives and fire.

(The Cairo radio, meanwhile, said Eighth army units had crossed the Sangro. The Germans acknowledged a crossing yesterday.)

San Angelo's capture represented a six-mile advance.

Near the mouth of the Garigliano, British troops of the Fifth army clashed with a big German patrol, inflicting heavy casualties at a cost of only one man wounded.

Simultaneously, heavy artillery duels flared on part of the Fifth army front. Concentrations of American batteries promptly laid down [illegible]-effective counter-fire.

Gen. Montgomery's headquarters reported "sharp skirmishes at many points" on the Eighth army front.

Weather [illegible] curbed ground operations also put a damper on allied air activities throughout Italy.

"Enemy artillery was active on the Fifth army front," the bulletin said. "There was little improvement in the weather which continues to hamper operations."

The communique also referred to heavy rain on the remainder of the British front toward the Adriatic and said, "there was little change."

JAP BASE STRUCK AGAIN AT GASMATA

By The Associated Press

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 24—Allied bombers and fighters making their latest visit to the Gasmata area on New Britain have plastered Japanese air and supply bases with 142 tons of bombs, the heaviest load yet.

The Monday raid, announced by General Douglas MacArthur today, brought to 329 tons the total amount of bombs dropped there in three consecutive days.

It was the outstanding punch delivered during the day by allied airmen who visited 11 enemy localities, in all, leaving a total of 275 tons of explosive calling cards.

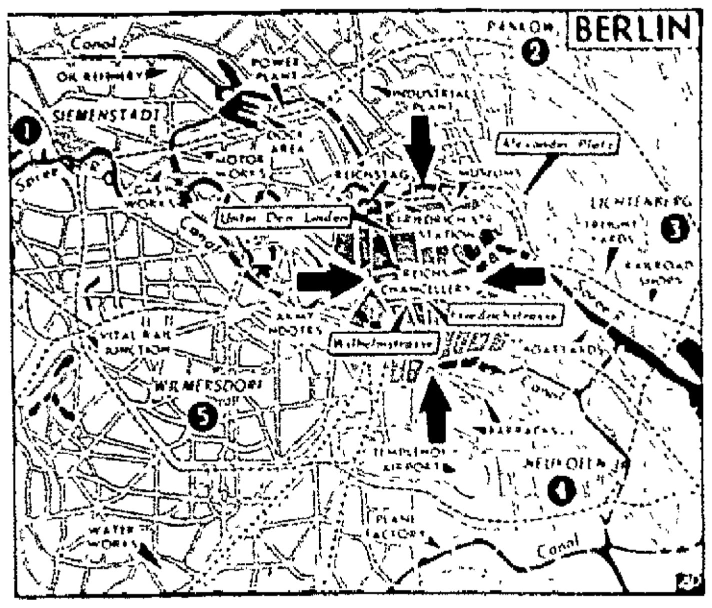
The latest attack on the Gasmata sector made by more than 100 bombers and fighters, was directed at the airdrome on Agur island and installations at Lindenhafen.

Once again, as in the previous two raids, there was no enemy interception. Ground fire, however, brought down one allied plane.

Air raiders left their second largest bomb load of the day, 52 tons, on an enemy airdrome at Cape Gloucester, on the western tip of New Britain.

Seven Japanese fighter planes attempted a dawn attack against our navy PT boats in Empress Augusta bay, Bougainville, and all were knocked down by American air patrols.

A 7,000-ton Japanese freighter-transport was bombed and left sinking off Kavieng, New Ireland.



BOMBED AREAS IN BERLIN. Berlin, the city German leaders once boasted would never feel the terror of allied bombs, lay in smoking ruins after being battered Monday night by a record Royal Air Force raid, which showered 2,300 British long tons of bombs on the German capital. Center area surrounded by arrows was most heavily hit. Also damaged were the suburbs numbered 1 to 5. Last night the RAF returned again to lay more of the city in ruins.

County Near War Chest Goal

$12,169 Lacking at Last Night's Report Meeting: Expect To Raise Balance Within Week.

Marion county's second wartime United War Chest campaign is still $12,169.02 short of its $112,275.49 quota, but drive officials at last night's final report meeting predicted the goal would be reached by the close of another week, when divisional leaders will again meet.

Subscriptions totaling $17,739.20 were reported at last night's final dinner meeting in the Masonic Temple, boosting the drive total to $100,106.47, or just slightly over 90 per cent of the drive quota.

Despite the fact that more than $12,000 remains to be raised in order to meet the quota, drive heads seemed confident that a final effort by all members of the Chest organization would put the county over.

J. E. Oliphant, president of the Marion Community Foundation, and Robert E. White, chairman of the United War Chest drive, urged workers to make a final attempt to obtain additional subscribers.

Mr. Oliphant said, "All of you perhaps know of someone in your vicinity that has not given to this drive. That person is your responsibility in the next week. There are a large number of residents of both the city and the county who have not been called on by a drive worker. These too are the responsibility of every campaign worker."

Mr. White said, "I am satisfied that a lot of people haven't given what they are capable of giving." Mr. White also expressed a belief that the quota will be reached in the next week.

Mayor J. C. Thuma of LaRue, a guest at last night's report meeting, struck the same note as Mr. White in stating that he believed some people were not giving their share. "Some are giving $1 that should contribute $10 and those that are giving $10 should contribute $50. It's either ignorance or a lack of conscience with these folks. I personally feel that it is the former. It is up to drive workers to educate the people—to make them realize that our allied friends across the pond are starving and dying.

"A total of 28 different agencies are sharing in the proceeds of the United War Chest. No one would hesitate to give 50 cents to anyone of the individual agencies. Therefore, multiply 50 cents by 28 and you will get $14. That would be the base contribution for anyone," Mayor Thuma said.

Praise from Rural Leader

J. T. Lynch, head of the rural phase of this year's drive, spoke briefly and praised various outstanding Chest groups. Citing several sections of the county in which returns have not been completed, Mr. Lynch said it is pardonable that rural reports are only a little better than half complete. The farmers are working from early until late to get in their corn and soybean crops while the weather is still favorable, he said.

Mr. Lynch paid a special tribute to the women who took an active part in this year's drive. He said that work of the campaign in Claridon, Caledonia and Green Camp was done almost entirely by women workers. He also praised the Prospect women who reorganized their staff midway in the drive and still made a remarkable showing.

He said he has never before "experienced such a splendid spirit as predominated in Marion. We've had scrap paper drives, rubber drives, tin can drives, scrap metal drives, bond and stamp drives but still everybody is taking part in all."

For the Boys "Over There"

Mr. Oliphant, in summing up this year's drive, said, "This year, in particular, it has been difficult to leave work and go about soliciting. For those who have done this it has been a great sacrifice but it has been for the good of everything—for the community,

HOPE SETTLEMENT OF SUBSIDY MEASURE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Administration leaders clung to the gossamer-like possibility of a senate compromise today as their only hope of saving food subsidies—the President's No. 1 weapon against rising living costs.

"We're down to the bed-rock issue: Either we want inflation or we don't want it," said Senator Pepper (D-Fla) as the house voted 278 to 118 late yesterday to outlaw subsidies after the first of the year.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) an administration supporter, said "the end of subsidies will mean overnight inflation."

President Roosevelt, in a recent message to congress, declared the bulwark of the administration's fight to hold-the-line against inflation rested in the subsidy program through which government cash goes to food producers to keep retail prices down. Without subsidies, administration backers argue, uncontrolled prices—and consequent inflation—are inevitable.

Even as the house voted out subsidies for the second time, the price control setup was attacked on other fronts.

A house bloc mustered sufficient strength to force the issue on an attempt to remove oil and coal controls from the office of price administration which has turned back numerous efforts to raise ceiling prices.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 — Ohio's 20 Republican members in the house voted solidly for a bill prohibiting consumer subsidies yesterday, and the state's three Democratic congressmen voted against the measure, which was passed 278 to 118.

NAZIS MOVING NEARER KIEV IN COUNTER-DRIVE

Russians Make Third Withdrawal Under Heavy Pressure from Germans.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 24.—The German attacks in a 10-day-old counter-offensive in the Ukraine moved closer to Kiev today after Russian forces had made their third withdrawal in three days under pressure.

Spearheads of Field Marshal Fritz Von Mannstein's troops have reached Brusilov, 45 miles west of Kiev and are almost half way to the Ukrainian capital from Zhitomir.

Von Mannstein sent in other strong forces against Russian positions in the Chernyakhov area in his all-out effort to turn the southern flank of Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's first Ukrainian army.

The Red army appeared to be holding strong positions in front of Kiev, and apparently was falling back under orders from the Russian high command mainly to avoid encirclement of its advance units.

The Germans paid heavily for their successes in the Kiev bulge, a Russian communique said. More than 100 tanks were captured and 2,000 were killed and 19 Nazi planes were shot down.

Von Mannstein was reported throwing large reserves into the battle.

While front dispatches indicated the decisive stage of the battle for the Ukraine had not yet been reached, the Red army continued to advance ahead on other sections of the front north and south of Kiev, particularly along the lower reaches of the Pripet river.

Here more than 40 towns fell to Soviet force.

In the Gomel area more than 1,500 Germans were killed as the Russians enlarged their bridgehead on the western bank of the Sozh river north of the beleaguered German stronghold. Around Rechitsa, west of Gomel, several towns fell into Russian hands.

(Berlin broadcasts, admitting breaches in their White Russian lines between Smolensk and Gomel said the Red army thrusts appeared aimed at Orsha and Mogilev. They asserted that the Russians had hurled perhaps 150,000 men into this battle, which they said was already [illegible]. Moscow was silent on operations in this sector).

PLANES BACK IN FORCE ON SECOND NIGHT

Report Nazi Capital in Chaotic Condition After Smashing Raids.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 24—Guided to [illegible] by fires set during a record-breaking assault 24 hours earlier, another great fleet of RAF heavy bombers rained high explosives on Berlin again last night in a tremendous offensive dwarfing the most devastating blows struck at London in the battle of Britain.

An air ministry communique described the attack as "heavy" and declared that "first reports show the bombing was concentrated and effective."

Berlin already was chaotic from history's greatest aerial attack delivered only 24 hours before when the new deluge of allied bombs struck last night.

Berlin correspondents of Swedish newspapers said new fires and "walls of flame" more than half a mile long swept Berlin after the second attack.

The Stockholm newspaper Aftontidningen asserted fires started by incendiary bombs last night linked up with flames still burning from Monday night's attack.

Estimate 25,000 Killed

Stockholm's Allehanda estimated 25,000 persons were killed in the first attack. It added the center of Berlin again was the main target last night and railway stations, gas and water mains suffered heavily.

The German capital was isolated from the world today by telephone and telegraph. Neither telephone calls nor telegrams were being accepted to Berlin this morning nor were Swedish correspondents able to telephone out of the city.

Telegrams from Stockholm intended for Berlin were being sent to Hamburg but it was unknown how they were being relayed to the capital.

Because Berlin is the hub of Hitler-dominated Europe, communications with virtually the whole continent were affected.

In Stockholm diplomatic representatives of legations bombed out in Berlin still were trying to contact their colleagues.

A new but unconfirmed report said the Eden hotel on Budapest Strasse near the zoo was ruined.

Blow at Enemy Morale

The impact of the paralyzing attacks on the German capital made it clear that wholly aside from physical damage to either the administrative center or the large war industries in the suburbs, the new aerial drive bulked as the war's greatest offensive against enemy morale.

Berlin as the nation's capital has a sentimental attachment for every German and the beating it is taking is a symbolic blow to all Germany.

While the German high command communique acknowledged "new and heavy damage by fires" caused in last night's attack, the Stockholm Aftontidningen said the repeated concentrated bombing was virtually as big as Monday's.

Explosions of blockbusters rocked all sections of Berlin, the newspaper said, but fires provided the worst horror. Storm clouds of ashes swept through the streets and often there were terrific gusts of flames caused by the peculiar effect of big bomb blasts.

The explosions seemed to create a vacuum which was followed by a cyclonic wave of fire.

Fire fighters were unable to cope with their task and entire areas of 10 to 12 blocks long were enveloped in flames this morning.

RAF fliers returning from last night's raid declared they "never

Berlin Burning with Thousand Fires, Swiss Traveler Reports

By The Associated Press

ON THE SWISS-GERMAN FRONTIER, Nov. 24—A neutral diplomat who lived through the allied bombing of Berlin Monday night described it to a correspondent of the Gazette De Lausanne as a "vision of the apocalypse" and said the German capital "is burning with a thousand fires."

The effect on the residents of Berlin was considerable, the diplomat continued, but was not yet fully measured because "many are still stupefied by the catastrophe."

On all sides, he said, "there are bitter complaints at the passive defense which proved ineffecient."

The newspaper's informant said Monday's raid was "much more impressive than the unforgettable attack March 1."

"Red clouds from which [illegible] cinders [illegible] rained weighed heavily on the city," he related. "Trucks and automobiles scurried in the streets gathering able-bodied men to form first aid groups. Women and children formed chains to sprinkle windows and roofs in an effort to check the spread of the fire. None closed an eye throughout the night in the reich capital.

"From the first hour of dawn, enormous crowds began to move toward the hardest hit areas, but SS militiamen with gas masks on their faces barred the roads.

"The first spectacle was that of the bombed-out carrying on their backs or in small cars a few goods, clothing and their most-prized possessions.

"The whole length of Leipzig street, one of the most-loved thoroughfares in the capital, was blazing. The presidential palace where Marshal Paul Von Hinden-

PATTON DOUBTFUL OF SHELL SHOCK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 — Long-time friends of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, seeking to explain his impulsive slapping of an unnerved soldier receiving hospital treatment, recalled today that "old blood and guts" never could comprehend that shell shock can be as real as a shrapnel wound.

The pistol-packin' papa of the 7th Army who goes into action with a pearl handled revolver was said by these friends to have a blind spot toward warfare's psychological or nervous casualties; he remains unconvinced by medical evidence that all wounds are not necessarily visible to the naked eye.

In the absence of any official report to Washington on the episode, for which Patton apologized to his entire command, they assume the hard-driving general found a group of shell shocked patients in a hospital tent and, under the stress of a developing campaign, leaped to the conclusion that they were "gold bricking," or malingering.

He is said to have denounced an entire group in his fury, while expressing sympathy for men who were "really wounded." Then he struck one of the soldiers on the back of the head, knocking the man's helmet-liner off.

Although retaining his command of the 7th Army, Patton received from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower such a castigation as has seldom been given to a three-star general commanding an army. It was not a formal reprimand—although there was speculation in informed quarters that officials here might insist that a formal entry be made on the general's record.

Besieged by inquiries, and obviously distressed by the news, officers in the war department public relation bureau here, could say only that they had no report on the matter.

One responsibe person said that when the Patton episode first became known to a group of newspapermen in the theater in August, Eisenhower was unwilling to impose censorship to prevent its publication, but expressed the hope that it would not be circulation. The reporters then agreed among themselves not to use it. Eventually, however, it passed by word of mouth until it became a matter of common knowledge in North Africa and Sicily, and gained wide circulation—"off the record" in this country until Drew Pearson used it in a broadcast last Sunday.

KING GEORGE OPENS PARLIAMENT SESSION

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 24 — King George VI, opening a new session of parilament, confidently told the house of commons today that "in the fourth year of the war the forces of the United Nations have assumed the offensive in all theaters * * * and in the coming year we shall, with God's help, be able to bear upon the enemy a still greater weight of attack."

"With the growing help of our great American ally and together with the other United Nations we shall go forward with confidence in our cause until we have delivered the peoples of the world from the fear of the aggressor," the king said.

Reviewing the allies' forward strides during the past year he recalled:

"The enemy has been cast out of Africa; freedom has been brought to Sicily, Sardinia and Corsica, and in Italy our forces and those of our American ally now are engaging the enemy on the mainland of Europe.

"On his eastern front the enemy has given ground before the massive and unrelenting advance of the Russian armies, whose magnificent achievements we have watched with ever-deepening admiration."

Arthur S. Brooks Given Scout Honor

Awarding of the Silver Beaver to Arthur S. Brooks of Van Wert, formerly of Marion, by the National Council of Boy Scouts recently, is of interest to his friends here. The award for "distinguished service to boyhood" was presented at the annual meeting of the Shawnee Council at Delphos. The highest award a scouter can receive, it is in the form of a small beaver worn on a blue and white ribbon and a certificate signed by the national officers. Mrs. Brooks was presented with a spray of orchids.

The citation accompanying the award to Mr. Brooks mentioned his long record with the scout movement beginning in 1911, a year after its organization in America.

Before going to Van Wert he was Scout executive of the Harding Area with headquarters in Marion.

Before coming to America in 1911 Mr. Brooks was a Boy Scout in England. At present he is a member of the Shawnee Council Camping and Activities committee, chairman of the Public Relations committee and scoutmaster of Troop 35 which group he organized in 1923.

He is a landscape architect and owns and manages a nursery and farm west of Van Wert.

Thanksgiving Thoughts in a Pantry

It's Thanksgiving Day, and I'm ashamed. Ashamed because I never knew what Thanksgiving meant until now.

My food was something I always took for granted, like air. Meals were only a regular, pleasant habit. Just something to eat, and what about it!

I know better now!

I've seen pictures—heart-rending pictures—of little kids in Poland, in Czechoslovakia, in Greece. Kids with pipe-stem arms and legs, their ribs almost breaking through their skins, their eyes big and haunting you with pleading for a scrap to eat. A scrap of anything.

And they could have been my kids.

I've heard eye-witness stories of men and women slaving with bayonets at their backs, and beaten when their production wasn't sufficient to suit a Nazi . . . because they were weak and faint from gnawing, endless hunger.

And they could have been my Sally and me.

So now I know what food is. It's life. It's strength, It's courage, and hope. It's sacred because it IS all these things.

Thank God there's enough in this land to keep American kids and their parents well and strong; enough to take care of the fighting men who stand between us and those who would strip this country, too. Even enough to help a bit in feeding desperate, heroic people abroad who are fighting OUR fight.

I'm sorry I ever wasted food. I didn't understand what food can mean. But now I know.

Thank God for my food . . . for making its preciousness plain to me.

I'm going to increase it every way I can . . . use it wisely and frugally and honorably . . . preserve it for future needs . . . and take no man's share from his mouth or the mouths of his kids.

Electricity, too, is vital to the war effort --- please use it carefully for the nation and especially for the boys over there. Whatever we do for the boys on the battlefields throughout the world cannot be enough. If we do not accomplish what we set out to do here on the home front, we should hang our heads in shame when the boys and girls return home from this war."

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Oliphant said the 10 divisional leaders will meet Friday night at 7.30 in the Chest headquarters at 142½ East Center street. At this time, he said, the date of the final report meeting will be set.

National Officer Present

Ben Taylor of the national war chest campaign headquarters was on hand for last night's meeting in Marion to visit his brother, Pvt. James F. Taylor, stationed at the Marion Engineer Depot. He took time off to attend the banquet. He spoke briefly, encouraging the workers to continue their efforts. "Don't be discouraged," he said. "campaigns throughout the country have been slow this year. However, in cities where campaign deadlines have been continued quotas have been exceeded on an average of two to three per cent."

He said campaigns in all parts of the country were slow in coming to a close principally because of the difficulty in covering large employment groups.

Nine Reports Given

Nine of the 10 divisions making up this year's solicitation organization turned in reports at last night's meeting. The financial division was the lone division failing to report. The public service division headed by Harold J. Grigsby turned in the biggest report of any of the nine reporting sections, $5,844.05, boosting its total to $11,388.21.

Totals of other divisions with the amount of money reported at last night's meeting listed in parenthesis follow: Industrial A, $12,278.32 ($1,441.22); Industrial B, $6,961.15 ($2,073.80); community chain, $4,899.35 ($1,504.60); community retail, $7,358.40 ($444.75); government, $5,865.48 ($291.25); general, $8,891.89 ($1,469.90); county, $5,729.35 ($3,492.83).

Reports from Industries

Last night's meeting was given a stimulating send-off when Hugh Hay, reporting for the small industries division, reported a special gift of $1,000 from Richard A. Lau.

Robert T. Mason, chairman of the large industries division, reported subscriptions totaling $1,441.22, raising the total for his division to $12,276.32. In connection with his final report he reported final figures for contributions of several of Marion's larger industries and their employes. The report is as follows: Alloy Cast Steel Co., $1,636.35; American Malleable Casting Co., $1,051.83; Baker Wood Preserving Co., $500; the Commercial Steel Casting Co., $2,901.39; Defiance Pressed Steel Co., $1,529.25; Fairfield Engineering Co., $2,290.34; General Excavator Co., $1,677.27; Marion Steam Shovel Co., $16,010.93; Osgood Co., $3,622.76; Pollak Steel Co., $733; Universal Cooler Corp., $6,213.33; Huber Manufacturing Co., $4,111.87.

Last night's dinner meeting was opened with a flag presentation program by Cub Scouts Danny Day and Donald Meddles and Brownies Norma Jean Beal and Anne Fellmeth. Miss Virginia Graver was again at the piano to play for the singing of patriotic songs and for music during the dinner hour. Rev. M. E. Hollenseer, pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran church pronounced the invocation.

CALEDONIA SPEAKER

Irene McCague Ihde, above, evangelistic, Youth Fellowship director, musician and lecturer, will conduct a 10-day Bible Fellowship meeting in the Memorial church at Caledonia beginning Friday. Services will be each night at 7.30 and will continue through Dec. 5. Rev. R. S. McCutchen, pastor, announced.

Election of Officers on CIO Slate Today

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24—The state Congress of Industrial Organizations' annual convention came to election of officers today with Ted F. Silvey maintaining he would not be a candidate for reelection as secretary-treasurer, despite reports he would be drafted.

Silvey said a "conflict of personalities among CIO officers" led him to decide not to be a candidate, though the United Steel Workers asked him to run.

CIO officers reported if Silvey did not change his mind, he would be opposed by William Lavalle, former [illegible] president and [illegible] to Silvey for the post.

Young Yank Runs Own Private War on Italian Front

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Associated Press Correspondent

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN ITALY—Out in "the blue" a dozen miles ahead of the Eighth army's nominal front line a young pugilist from New Jersey runs his own private war from day to day.

In Scotland, while training with a Canadian reconnaissance battalion, 23-year-old Lt. Jack I. Kennedy learned to live off the country. In the wintry Italian mountains, with mule carts and a sputtery wireless set his only link with supporting [illegible], Kennedy has become known as "the non-stop Jersey bounce."

The slightly bashed-nosed amateur boxer commands a Canadian assault troop that until muddy weather set in was customarily trucked into battle to mop up enemy pockets of resistance.

His biggest coup was near Potenza when he and another officer led 60 men through two miles of railway tunnels to surprise an enemy post from the rear. By actual count they killed 50 Germans, then hiked back through the tunnels to a rendezvous with their trucks.

The latest Eighth army advance required long-range patrols in storm-soaked mountains where virtually every road, culvert and bridge had been blown to smithereens. Armored cars and tanks were useless. Kennedy's troops were given a large [illegible] chunk of territory and told to capture it afoot.

Moving from village to village Kennedy was in almost continual contact with the Germans.

Maj. W. W. G. Darling of Toronto, Ontario, decided Kennedy needed better means of communication than personal messengers and sent up a wireless by mule train.

"You might know," said the major, "that a mule in that train felt itchy and rolled over. Anyhow, we got [illegible] another set a couple of days later by having two dispatch riders pack it on their backs."

Kennedy tells his Canadian mates he's going back home after the war, get married and operate a gasoline station.

Until last August he nearly missed the war.

Enlisting in the Canadian grenadier guards within a month after Dunkerque, he won a commission last year and transferred to a reconnaissance outfit that bears a well known name in Ottawa.

On the voyage from England he won the light heavyweight boxing championship on his boat.

His commander describes him in two words: "a knockout."

To Observe Thanksgiving Day We Will Be Closed All Day Tomorrow

And, as is our usual custom, we will open at 12 noon on Friday and remain open until 9 p. m.

UHLER'S

Thoughts and Spirit of Thanksgiving Day Remain Unchanged

Since 1621 we have progressed so far from the material conditions of the Pilgrims that we are inclined to forget the reasons for the first American Thanksgiving.

They, who had ventured so far and so much into an unknown land to worship God as they wished, felt that their success was a direct result of their Faith.

Like the Pilgrims, we are thankful for our continued Freedom of Religion, Freedom of Speech, Freedom from Want and Freedom from Fear.

That we do realize their value is evidenced by the fact that we are engaged in a world-wide war with the forces that would curtail or destroy them entirely.

Let us dedicate this Thanksgiving Day to one of prayer that the war may soon be ended and complete Freedom for all people be restored.

Thankful For The American Way of Life

How wonderful it is to live in a country where one may speak freely, worship as he chooses, write as his heart dictates . . . in a country where every voice, no matter how feeble, speaks for his rights in the government . . . a country in which the government and the people back each other to the utmost to blot out the aggressor. Let us be thankful on this Thanksgiving for our countless blessings under our flag. This is our way of life . . . let us preserve it.

[illegible] winners including 12 seniors, 11 juniors and three sophomores, represented one of the largest groups ever to win varsity "H's" in history of Marion high school football.

The players who were awarded letters by Head Coach Victor Dorris and Assistant Mentor Joseph Petrich were: seniors—Fano, Jack Beam, Jack Kaeppen, Dick Lemmitzer, Russell Midlam, Vernol Orth, Stewart Young, James Bowers, Bob Virden, George Roest, Fred Forry and Rex Kilbourn; juniors—Beach, Norman Dillinger, Bob Lee, Charles Strobel, Jack Colgrove, Tom Welch, Walter Bartlett, Bruce Nystrom, Marshall Zieks, Don Sennart and Jim Burgess; sophomores—Ralph Weber, Ralph Loreno and John Melvin.

In addition to the above mentioned players, Steve Bomas, senior manager, was awarded a regular Red and Black emblem. Misses Garne, Jones and Eileen Clark, seniors, received the cheer leaders' letters from Miss Rachel McAtee, member of the Harding faculty and director of the cheer leaders' corps.

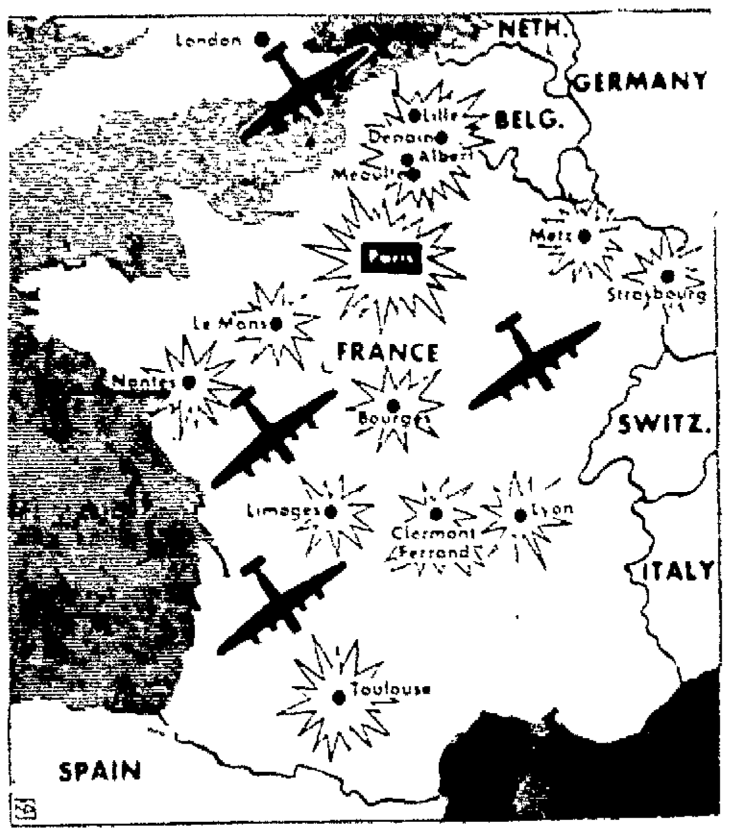
Harley Morney, a junior, was announced as next year's football senior manager, succeeding Bomas.

Principal speaker at the banquet was E. E. Holt, city superintendent of schools, who lauded the squad, the Harding student body, and the community in general for their cooperation and [illegible] in [illegible] out the team which won the league crown and finished the season with seven victories, a tie, and one loss. He complimented the individual players for their sportsmanship throughout the season and termed them "true gentlemen."

A. C. May, principal of Harding, was banquet toastmaster. Other speakers included Coaches Dorris and Petrich, Frank Robinson, members of the city school board, Homer E. Huffman, director of the Harding High band and orchestra, and Dr. E. L. Brady, team physician. Douglas Torrance, also a member of the board of education, was introduced as a guest. J. H. Smith, faculty member, read invocation which preceded dinner served by girls of the home economics classes supervised by Miss Pauline Stanhard.

At the conclusion of the formal part of the program, the two coaches were presented with gifts from the entire squad.

Gold footballs, which usually accompany the awarding of the letters, did not arrive in time for the banquet and will be given to the players at a school assembly in the near future.



TARGETS FOR THE FUTURE. The inter-allied high command has issued a blunt warning to the people of France—stay away from industrial areas! Within a short time, giant bombers will select as their targets for mass aerial attacks 14 specified districts turning out tanks, guns, autos, planes, and other war goods for the Nazis. A British broadcast, warning Frenchmen to "immediately take all necessary precautions," listed these areas: Paris, Toulouse, Meaulte, LeMans, Lille, Clermont-Ferrand, Albert, Metz, Nantes, Limoges, Strasbourg, Lyon, Bourges, and Denain. Bomb bursts on the above map highlight the future targets.

Thanksgiving Day
An American Institution

Thanksgiving is symbolic of American living — substantially good and appreciative of our blessings. It symbolizes a life built on a firm foundation where individual rights are protected by a government made to serve and protect its people, not enslave and subject them. It's a way of life worth any amount of sacrifice to protect it from the hands of aggressors.

This year let us make it a day of greater effort in working for Victory and return of our boys and girls to their homes that — in another year — we may have the best Thanksgiving of them all.

Thanksgiving finds U.S. truly Blessed

There'll be a cheery group around the Thanksgiving table —even though "your own boys" are far from home, in uniform—and Ellen and the children couldn't travel to join you. There'll be a cheery group of family, friends, neighbors—and other boys and girls in uniform to whom you extend your hospitality through the U. S. O. And if the feast isn't as elaborate as in peacetime Thanksgiving, there'll still be plenty of good things for all to enjoy!

And it is with this great American Spirit that we Americans will rededicate this Thanksgiving day in our hearts to the Rights For Freedom for which our boys are fighting today.

Above all, it's the day to make sure there will always be Thanksgiving—by deciding to give War Bonds for Christmas!

We Give Thanks for the Same Things

THE Pilgrims gave their thanks to [illegible] Providence because in a new land they [illegible] found the promise of material [illegible] and spiritual freedom.

They knew it was not going to be easy. But having endured much, they did not expect anything to be easy. They asked only the right to work for an honest living.

As it turned out, their first Thanksgiving proved the best for many of them. Hard years followed. Their children and grandchildren knew hard times, too.

It was not to be for many generations that the good land they had settled justified the Pilgrims' hopes and produced more than enough for all.

The great power that is our nation today—the great continent that America has become—goes back in the beginning to those devout souls who were first to understand its promise.

It goes back through wars and eras of doubt, through triumphs and golden eras, through the nation's tears and laughter. We give thanks today for the same things. The promise is still here, greater than it ever was before, waiting on nothing for fulfillment but our hard work and more generations of hoping, planning and striving.

The Patton Incident

FROM the facts as they have been stated, it is reasonable to believe the Patton incident has been closed satisfactorily for all parties concerned.

An able general who lost his temper and mistreated one of his men has apologized generously for his mistake. Gen. Patton's stature in the eyes of his men probably has increased.

A soldier—whose reaction to battle momentarily overcame his physical and mental resistance to danger has returned to his place. His example should be an inspiration to other soldiers.

The war department, which obeyed its native impulse to conceal what could not be conveniently explained, has been corrected in the commission of an error. The example of the Dreyfuss case in France has been taken to heart. Gen. Eisenhower has not chosen to follow the rule that the officer caste sticks together through thick and thin.

Free speech has scored a triumph. Without Drew Pearson's expose of the incident, it is possible it might have remained a rankling secret, generating criticism and growing into dangerous distortions.

Our enemies have been given an object lesson in the operation of government based on the rights of men. It will be a cold day in Russia and a wet day in the Pacific before the German and Japanese hear one of their generals admit that he made a mistake.

Battle of—and for—the Islands

PERHAPS the saddest facts of war are those whose description starts with "if." If the United States had understood the implication of its position as a major power after the Spanish-American war, the battle of—and for—the islands of the Central Pacific could have been averted.

The Gilbert Islands, which have been attacked to take them out of Japan's power, the Marshall islands to the north, the Truk islands lying to the west—those and the other far-flung island groups comprising Micronesia—would have belonged to the United States after its conquest of the Philippines if this government and the people of this country had estimated their value properly. But not only were these small islands lost, the Philippines, themselves, were made the subject of protracted debate about the [illegible] and the debate still was proceeding when Japan settled the matter by seizing them as part of its strategic plan after Pearl Harbor. Previously Japan had entrenched itself on the small islands which it had obtained by purchase [illegible] mandate, and in quick order it moved [illegible] everything else it needed to secure itself.

The United States now must fight a costly campaign to displace the Japanese and [illegible] order to use Micronesia for its own [illegible]. Always important as naval stations, the islands now are doubly important as naval-air bases. They mark the approach to Japan from the United States just as truly as China marks the approach from India. Only the blindest sort of commercialism concealed their military importance with the fact they were unproductive. It has been a hard, expensive lesson, [illegible] certainly it has been learned so well this time it never can be forgotten.

Nazi Strength

Nazi concentration [illegible] the [illegible] not [illegible] power. No doubt the Reds will continue [illegible] their advance [illegible] on [illegible] as well as following through their customary strategy of launching a new attack at another point in the long line whenever rebuffed—this time in the north, aimed at Riga.

Yet the Nazis have surrendered surprisingly few prisoners in all this recent retreat, even in the south where the Russian attack precipitated what appeared to be an initial rout, the retreat has been surprisingly orderly. The German managed to cling to Krivoi-Rog many days after territory on both sides had gone.

Consequently, the vague reports coming out of London lately indicating initial attempts by the Nazis to negotiate for an armistice, have seemed weak and untrustworthy. One published report has indicated that certain German army officers approached the British in two neutral countries, advancing the idea of an armistice, but these officers plainly were without sufficient authority and probably not valid envoys of even a small group of the Nazi army.

When Break May Come

Thus, while the Russians will no doubt continue to advance, and the recent RAF raids on Berlin were but a forerunner of immediate great intensification of our air warfare, no one in official authority here pretends to know, or hazard a precise guess as to how soon in the next few months the break may be expected.

London is the fountain-head of both authentic and unauthentic inside information from Europe, mainly because the refugee governments are established there. There British have excellent contacts on the continent, but the sources of most of the printed rumors and "authoritative" reports are refugee officials.

I THINK M. K. F. Fisher is a good [illegible] of witch, at least so far as "The Gastronomical Me" is concerned.

The result of this [illegible] gift is that from page one to page 295, Mrs. Fisher's reader lives in an odd world of the senses, a world that is not merry but intense. It is unlikely that many people will understand what is going on in the [illegible], but those who do can look forward to something out of this world.

It was Saturday, Nov. 24, 1923.

Two mysterious bomb explosions were set off in the Spanish consulate in Philadelphia and the Sons of Italy bank in the same city. Numerous buildings were damaged by the blasts, which were followed by the arrest of three foreigners as suspects.

It was announced that the property of the Marion Water Co. had been purchased by Boston capitalists, headed by O. E. Williams.

Miss Elma F. Midlam and Paul R. Drake, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Rev. C. L. Allen at the Calvary Evangelical church parsonage.

The Harding High football team wound up its 1923 schedule by defeating Delaware on the fairground gridiron, 38-0. As a result, the season ended in a triple tie for first honors in the North Central Ohio league. Harding, Mansfield and Galion each had a record of four victories and one defeat. In the closing game Dunn and Evans scored two touchdowns each, and Schott and Johnson one each.

Mt. Gilead and Richwood High schools played a scoreless tie on the Richwood gridiron.

Adjustment of War Orders

By Robert M. Farrington

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — One of the most hotly discussed subjects in Washington today is the renegotiation of war contracts.

Billions of dollars and the future of thousands of American corporations are wrapped up in proposals to change present government methods of preventing war profiteering.

In the last war, contractors were paid their costs plus a percentage for profit. Some larceny-minded manufacturers used various dodges to boost their costs so as to drag in more money for themselves.

To close this loophole, contracts at the start of this year were let on a cost-plus-fixed-fee basis. This meant that a builder was paid a flat sum for his services above the actual cost of his work. He gained nothing by increasing the cost, but with the government footing the bill neither did it matter how high it went.

After various attempts at trying to hold down costs but still get the stupendous production we needed, government experts hit on the renegotiation principle. With this, contracts above $100,000 were let in the usual manner, but price adjustment boards of the Army, Navy, Treasury, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration and later the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had the right to examine books and determine whether profits were fair or excessive. The boards could order companies to refund profits considered too high and reduce contract prices to what they believed was a fair level.

4 Billions Saved

Well over four billion dollars have been saved to date by renegotiation, the agencies claim. In rare cases, renegotiation has proved that companies were losing money or working on too small a profit and the contracts have been raised, but mostly costs have been constantly reduced.

Most manufacturers are [illegible] profiteering from their country [illegible] out gulp at the Army-Navy rule-of-thumb that limits [illegible] profits to one-half or one-third the margin of peacetime sales.

At the beginning of the war [illegible] firms were called on to manufacture articles not previously mass-produced and at unheard of rates of production. The first consideration was speed, and the government didn't waste time haggling over price, though in many cases no one knew what a proper price was. As the machines got to rolling, it was found that a part estimated to cost $600 to make, could be mass-produced for $400, and later, $350 or $300. So contracts were scaled down accordingly.

Because of the maze of factors involved, it is impossible to set a flat percentage limitation on profits and each big contract has to be scrutinized individually.

Companies Want Relief

The biggest complaints of manufacturers are that renegotiation strips them of funds for reconversion after the war and that their profits are always uncertain as their contracts may be reexamined up to three years after the war.

They want: 1. Only one negotiation except in cases of fraud. 2. A cut in the time limit that they are subject to renegotiation. 3. Reserves for post war reconversion allowed out of profits. 4. No recovery of excess profits until after they have paid taxes. At present, taxes are scaled to mop up 90 per cent of profits above what is considered a normal level.

Government experts have countered some of these proposals, declaring it is impossible to estimate reconversion costs so as to know how big a reserve is needed and that taxes alone cannot stop profiteering.

Furthermore the Navy protests [illegible] renegotiate after taxes [illegible] be tantamount to returning [illegible] the war contractor the amount of money Congress has decided he should pay as his contribution to the war effort.

Smoke Abatement

Our Croaker Says We [illegible] Or Puff But Can't Have [illegible] Pastimes. And We're [illegible]

By DAMON RUNYON

I AM [illegible] the drifting smoke.

The [illegible] my [illegible] the [illegible] friends [illegible] through pretty [illegible] around the house. No one can hear [illegible] about the domestic management.

The vocal disability has even [illegible] A person unduly [illegible] among my dogs is greatly [illegible] because I can no longer roar at them. [illegible] the Missus, is much perplexed [illegible] I used to hold lengthy [illegible] her on the topics of the day [illegible] thinks I am displeased with her [illegible] purposely withholding my views.

THEN there is the enforced [illegible] of my bathroom singing. This [illegible] my enjoyment of life second only [illegible] The walls that once rang with my [illegible] now brood in sinister silence as I [illegible] my matutinal ablutions without [illegible] song.

It is not that music has taken leave of my soul. It is just that I do not [illegible] render in a whisper and with proper [illegible] my favorite ballad, the name of which I [illegible] forgotten, but which carries the [illegible] lines:

"The chairs in the parlor all miss you
The sunlight won't come through the d[illegible]"

The croaker does not guarantee return of my lyrical tones even after I quit smoking, but he thinks with due care I [illegible] sufficient voice to do a sort of recital [illegible] songs. I doubt the value of this type of entertainment in the bathroom, however. I [illegible] it will sound like a man talking to himself.

ONE person to whom the news that I [illegible] to abandon smoking cigarets [illegible] great satisfaction is Doc Wilcox, back in my old home town of Pueblo. He told me 40 years ago that smoking cigarets would give me trouble. He said "look at those yellow fingers" meaning my own, and he added that my insides [illegible] turn the same color if I did not quit [illegible] coffin nails.

I wish I had listened to the good doctor. I would not now be facing a struggle [illegible] long habit and temptation. Besides, [illegible] the money I might have saved. I [illegible] averaged 40 to 50 cigarets a day down [illegible] the years, and the sum total of my expenditures must be quite large. But as against [illegible] solace they have brought me. I do not regret the money. I only regret that I have [illegible] forsake them.

I have smoked cigarets almost since [illegible] Unlike most adolescents, I did not start [illegible] corn silk or other imitations. I started [illegible] real thing by "shooting snipes," or picking up discarded stubs of my elders. Thus I acquired a catholic taste in cigarets. "Sweet Caps," "Judges," they were all the same to me.

I GRADUATED to rolling my own of granulated tobacco and brown paper, then [illegible] on to expensive imported Turkish, Egyptian [illegible] Russian brands. I once had them made [illegible] with my monogram on each cigaret [illegible] thought was pretty swell. Of late years I [illegible] been content with the kind that come 20 [illegible] pack at about 15 cents, the American standard than which no better cigarets were ever made.

I am wondering if it would not be better to lose my voice and keep the cigarets. What is there for me to say that I haven't already said anyway?

Pork Point Value Cuts Explained

From Thanksgiving to Christmas, in almost every rural community, the butchering season is at its height, and in order to expedite the movement of a bumper pork crop from the market to the consumer's table, federal regulations on farm slaughtered pork and lard have been relaxed by the War Food Administration and OPA has reduced the ration value on pork two points, OPA officials at Columbus announced today.

To the consumer this means that if he has been giving up ten points for pork chops, ham and tenderloins, he will now be able to get them for eight points. Some of the cheaper cuts that formerly required only two points will be ration-free.

This point value change does not reduce the ration value of lard or of sausages that are not made entirely from pork. Neither does it reduce the point value of canned meat, even though they are made entirely from pork.

OPA officials warned that this reduction is only temporary. After the movement of the present bumper hog crop, it may be necessary to restore the point values to the higher level.

Captain in Air Force Faces Court Martial Proceedings.

By The Associated Press

CALCUTTA, Nov. 24 — An American nurse has been fined six months pay, a sergeant transferred from India to China and an air force captain is awaiting court martial, it was disclosed today, because love came into their army lives.

In each case, they sought to marry English persons in military service. The situation was brought to a climax by the case of the captain who disregarded the refusal of his superior officer to permit him to marry an English nurse.

He is now facing what a judge advocate officer declared to be certain conviction and dismissal from the Army together with a possible fine.

The names were withheld.

OPA Considers Lowering Meat Ration Point Cost

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—The office of price administration is "seriously considering" a general reduction in the ration point cost of all types of meat.

An OPA spokesman, emphasizing that a final decision has not been made, said yesterday that meat supplies for civilians have improved in recent weeks and that the situation warrants a downward revision of point cost.

76 "Grade One" Tires Released by Ration Board

No automobiles were issued by the local rationing board last week. Certificates for bicycles went to Samuel J. Pearson of 551 East Farming street, a night watchman at the Baker Wood Preserving Co., and to Walter Chesser of Marion Rt. 3, a worker at the Pollak Steel Co.

Seventy-six grade one tires and 35 tubes were awarded to 49 drivers; 51 grade three tires and 22 tubes were released to 32 drivers; 25 truck recaps and five tubes were given to 10 persons; 25 truck tires and 14 tubes were awarded to 15 drivers and five farm implement tires and six tubes were released to four persons. Twenty-five pairs of boots were issued by the local board last week.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

General, Sergeant Forget About Rank

By The United Press

SALEM, MASS. — Two men paced back and forth in a corridor of a Denver, Calif., hospital. They were about to become fathers.

As they walked past each other brisk salutes were exchanged. For the men were Sgt. Lawrence R. Brewer of Salem and Brig. Gen. Albert Sneed, commanding officer of Lowery Field. Finally the general decided to have a word with the srgeant.

"I think, sergeant," he said, "that we had better dispense with the saluting. Under present circumstances, you know."

But the stork completely disregarded military proprieties. He took care of the sergeant first while the general waited. The sergeant was presented with a 7-pound son, and the general a 6-pound heir.

The story was related by the sergeant's wife in a letter to her mother in Salem.

Election Booth Workers Questioned on Tampering

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 24— The Mahoning county election board today called four poll booth workers for questioning after discovering "obvious tampering" with 16 ballots in the mayoralty contest in which Republican Arthur H. Williams leads by 33 votes with 12 precincts still to be checked in a recount.

The board said the recount would be completed after it had questioned booth workers about "obvious tampering" with ballots so that they were marked both for Williams and his Democratic opponent Ralph W. O'Neill. Different kinds of pencils were used for each candidate, the board said.

Extra markings were found only beside names of the mayoral aspirants, although those of other candidates appeared on the same ballot, the board added.

Williams had 21,746 votes to O'Neill's 21,713 when the recount was halted.

Vaudeville originated in a show opened by B. F. K in a vacant candy store in Bo 1883.

Thanksgiving
Thanksgiving Day means a great deal to those Americans who are imbued with the ideals which were first defined by the New England colonists . . . traditions of freedom and democracy which are urging our boys on to greater victory. We at home, too, are fighting to retain those ideals through our preservation of the old-fashioned customs, loved and honored since the first settlers set foot on American shores.

Now You're Helping Bob By Saving NATURAL GAS

No, your soldier or sailor doesn't expect gas cooking, hot water or heating in the fox hole, in the dive bomber or on the landing barge. He DOES rightfully expect us to keep him supplied with the fighting implements of war to make his efforts most effective — to quicken Victory — to increase his chance of returning home. As you know, there is a critical shortage of natural gas due to war conditions. This is the fuel needed so vitally by our war industries to keep producing guns, ships and tanks for Bob, Jim and Joe. When you write, mention the small sacrifice which you are making in saving natural gas so that your fighter will have things he needs. But first — you must be sure you are saving your share.

Strict Control of Germany Advocated by U. S. Voters

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

[illegible] Institute [illegible] carefully balanced cross-section of the voting population [illegible] What do you think we should do with Germany after the war? [illegible]

People's reactions to this open question when grouped and analyzed provide little ammunition for the Nazi propaganda machine in its campaign to convince Germans that the Democracies are out to annihilate them. Instead this survey shows that the greatest number of Americans stress [illegible] supervision and disarmament of Germany rather than her destruction as a nation, as advocated by many students of international affairs, including Robert Vansittart, whose recent book "Lessons of My Life" urges destruction of the German nation.

Analysis of replies to the question put to the people of the United States shows that they fall into four main classifications. Largest group gave answers indicating a desire to keep Germany [illegible] completely. Most [illegible] group were those [illegible] Germany [illegible] her form [illegible] restrictions [illegible] group represents 49 [illegible] interviewed.

[illegible] 21 per cent represented those who [illegible] that Germany as a nation [illegible] and permanently [illegible] number of [illegible] Germans into [illegible]

[illegible] other people [illegible] annihilation of [illegible] Germany [illegible] group were [illegible] which suggested [illegible] the Germans [illegible] her [illegible] and [illegible] those [illegible] the Germans [illegible] to prevent [illegible] world [illegible] stressed [illegible] than [illegible] degree than did [illegible] This [illegible] 19 per cent of the [illegible]

In tabular form replies received to this open question therefore would look like this:

Strict supervision	49%
Destroy completely	21

Because of the fact that some people gave more than one answer to the question, the figures add up to more than 100 per cent.

Delaware Co. Post-War Road Project Proposed

Relocation of a 13-mile section of State route 3 from Sunbury southward to route 161 is one of a group of post-war projects submitted to the public roads administration, according to a state highway department announcement today. Part of the project is in Delaware county.

The proposal would cost about $1,100,000 and would involve the relocation of 13 miles of the highway to bypass Sunbury, Galena and Westerville, elimination of two railroad grade-crossings and one narrow, low-clearance railroad subway and elimination of sharp and numerous curves. The project is on the military strategic network.

The project is one of 21 the state highway department has proposed to the public roads administration for federal-state financing. The 21 projects would cost about $27,000,000 and involve about 135 miles of roads in 21 counties.

History Summarized

In 1824 a Free Baptist church was organized in a brick school house on North Prospect street, the first church of any denomination in Marion. The first building owned by the congregation was built east of town, but in 1842 this building was moved to a lot on the east side of what is now Vine street. A brick church building on East Center street, now occupied by the Yellow Cab Co., was built following the Civil war. In 1885 the First Baptist church was organized and the congregation purchased a building on North State street. When the two denominations, Baptist and Free Baptists, united the two local churches joined forces. A church building erected on South Main street held the first combined worship service Sept. 24, 1911, and the united congregations became Trinity Baptist church. Pastors have been Rev. Walter A. King, Dr. T. H. McAfee, Rev. G. M. Landis, Dr. U. S. Davis, Rev. Lawrence A. Wood and Rev. Holloway, with Dr. Behan acting pastor.

Half of Coal Industry Agrees on Contract

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Operators producing about 50 per cent of the nation's soft coal have offered the United Mine Workers a contract that is substantially acceptable, but Union Chief John L. Lewis declared today the miners are "not interested" in an agreement with half the industry.

Refusal of the Southern Coal Producers association to sign on a portal to portal basis and the absence of the captive (steel company) mine operators from the wage conference appeared to be the principal obstacles to a contract that would be virtually national in scope.

Half Million Dollar Fire Hits Idle Factory

By The Associated Press

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 24—A half million dollar fire towering at times 300 feet into the night sky swept war-idle properties of the Berkey & Gay Furniture Co. here early today and led one fireman to his death.

The spectacular blaze destroyed two of the three Berkey & Gay buildings on the fringe of downtown.

Falling brick walls killed Fireman Louis A. Coleman, 40.

A company spokesman said the loss would be at least $500,000 and might reach $800,000.

Until the ninth century England was composed of seven separate Anglo-Saxon kingdoms.

RUSSIA READY TO COOPERATE

Close Coordination Between Red High Command and Anglo-U. S. Staff.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Plans [illegible] being completed for closest [illegible] [illegible] between the Russian high command in Moscow [illegible] the Anglo-American supreme [illegible] be headed by General George C. Marshall in London.

Perfection of these plans, which may be followed by formal announcement of Marshall's appointment to the unprecedented Allied leadership position, is one of the major current accomplishments in United Nations measures for the global prosecution of the war.

Another accomplishment is believed to be an impending action to bring China more fully into the forefront of United Nations work.

This impending development may take the form of participation by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in the widely reported —but nowhere confirmed—meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin. Or, it may lead to a get together among Chinese, British and American leaders following the long-heralded pow-wow of the European big three.

Situation More Favorable

The fact that China signed the four-power agreement at Moscow is taken here as evidence that Stalin possibly would not mind going into a conference with Chiang as well as Roosevelt and Churchill, especially since the danger of a Japanese attack on Russia's maritime provinces has become more remote as American forces advanced in the Pacific.

To date, however, the Russians have been most scrupulous about joining the Chinese in anything other than broad political agreements and if this policy still prevails, or if physical difficulties prevent a big four meeting, a succession of big three meetings seems likely.

Other business is believed to include the political front as well as the military, and there is some possibility that out of the conference may come a definition of what unconditional surrender would mean to the German people.

First Formal OK

Such a definition now becomes possible for the first time because it was only at the conference of foreign ministers in Moscow that Russia subscribed formally to the unconditional surrender agreement made at Casablanca by Britain and the United States.

Such a development, some here believe, could clear the way for a "propaganda campaign of truth" to counter the Nazis' present propaganda among the desperate German people that they are better off to die fighting than to surrender. Thus there may be added a powerful psychological weapon to the Allies' growing arsenal for the final assault on Hitler's European fortress.

Most attention, however, is focused on the military aspects of this campaign which Allied leaders expect will be costly in both men and materials.

The delay in making announcement of Marshall's selection for the top command may be explained this way: President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill desire to present to the world a finished product with respect to the high command organization and a picture of whole-hearted unity with Russia.

There is every expectation in Washington that Marshall will be at work in London well before the end of this year.

Considerable credence also is attached by observers here to reports that when the Italian campaign has reached a satisfactory point General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied Mediterranean commander, will take over as American chief of staff, succeeding Marshall.

In the meantime Lieut. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, deputy chief and director of armed ground forces, will undoubtedly run the staff in Marshall's absence.

WITH UNITED STATES TROOPS, BOUGAINVILLE, Nov. [illegible] (Delayed)—Survivors [illegible] McKean, United States [illegible] transport, told today [illegible] long minutes that [illegible] the fatal hit by a Japanese aerial torpedo.

"We swam away from the ship as hard as we could, then a bunch of us gathered [illegible] in the water and said the Lord's [illegible] together," said Marine Pfc. Jesse A. Tarvin, Paton, Ark.

The McKean was [illegible] sunk Nov. 1[illegible] while she was en route to Empress Augusta Bay, Bougainville. The Navy said about 220 men were saved.

Tarvin said they were in the water two hours before the destroyers picked them up.

Pfc. W. J. [illegible] Cleveland, said the explosion [illegible] the McKean threw [illegible] 20 feet against the bulkhead and that the blast "must have killed all of the after gun crews."

"Gunnery Sgt. Russell Scott of Tulsa, Okla., [illegible] below and carried a sailor who had been wounded the previous day by strafing topside, put a jacket on him and tossed him overboard. The sailor survived [illegible] is recovering."

"The worst part was the explosion of depth charges after the vessel went down. The water seemed to squeeze the breath out of you."

He said he saw four Jap planes shot down, one by a gun crew which stuck to their guns as the ship was keeling.

"They were a darned brave bunch of guys," he said.

Thanksgiving

The Pilgrim fathers would be amazed if they could return to [illegible] celebrate Thanksgiving Day this year.

In war plants throughout America that celebration will be just another day of production of the tools of war. Bombers, fighter planes, guns and ammunition will roll off the assembly lines ready for action.

Every ally of this nation should join us in a prayer of thanksgiving that we have the machines, the man-power and the ability to attain such a vast production. Their victory and ours rests upon it.

We have much for which to be thankful this

Thanksgiving

On battlefronts, reaching from the Aleutians to the South Pacific, the might of our arms is slowly but surely crushing the forces of iniquity and brutality.

We have food aplenty! Clothing! Health! Prosperity! We have our Homes!

In the not too distant future, we can see Victory . . . and lasting Peace!

We are Free men and Free women! Free to talk, to write, to speak, to listen! Free to worship this day, and any day, in the Church of our Fathers.

This is Indeed a Happy Thanksgiving. May it be a day of joy and festivity for you and for your family.

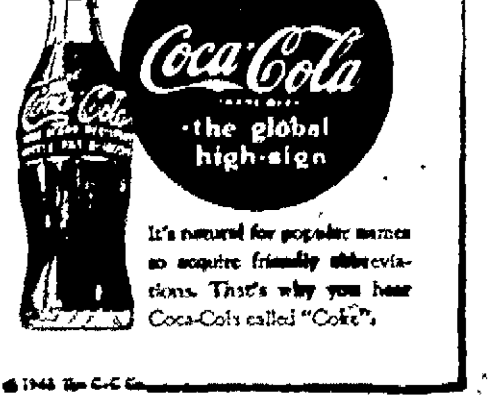
Have a Coca-Cola = Swell work, Leatherneck

. . . or how to celebrate a victory at home

Returning from the South Pacific with a captured Japanese sword, the husky Marine gets a hearty greeting. Have a "Coke", says the proud family circle and it's the kind of celebration he welcomes most. At home or on the fighting fronts Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a universal symbol of the American way of life.



It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

wages and salaries. The measure merges the victory tax with the normal income tax without losing any of the present victory taxpayers.

Rates on liquor are increased from $6 to $9 a gallon; on beer, from $7 to $8 a barrel, and there are slight hikes on wine. Among articles affected by other boosted excises are jewelry, furs, luggage, cosmetics, telephones, transportation, general admissions, cabarets, bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables, and electric light bulbs.

The measure raises the local letter rate from two cents to three, airmail from 6 cents to 8, doubled third class charge, and increases some other mail charges. There is no change in the 3-cent out-of-town letter rate or the second class mail charges.

Germans Ready To Use "Reprisal Weapon"

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 24—Germany now will use her "reprisal weapon" because "terror attacks" on Berlin and other German towns have grown to such proportions, a military spokesman told a foreign press conference in Berlin today, the Berlin radio announced.

The spokesman declined to disclose the nature of the "reprisal weapon" which he said Germany regretted she had been forced into using.

Weather, Nazis' Foe in East, Now Strikes in West

(The column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt MacKenzie, is written today in his absence by J. M. Roberts Jr.)

Winter weather, dire enemy of the Nazis in the east, has turned against them in the west as well. Through ice-forming clouds which kept Berlin defensive fighters out of the air, the RAF has repaid the luftwaffe for all it could do to London and now is piling on the interest.

It was Hitler who promised to repay Britain with hundreds of pounds of explosives for each pound dropped on Germany. But it is the RAF which has carried to Berlin 10,000 tons of bombs this year, as compared with the 7,500 dropped on London during the battle of Britain. Berlin, Hamburg, Cologne and the Ruhr, not London, have suffered history's heaviest bombings.

But the last two raids on Berlin carry a significance over and above their material weight.

There have been some hints that the allies have developed technical means of overcoming bad weather around their targets. Whether the use of fast, low tracer planes to mark the target with flares is the whole story on this remains to be revealed. But the last raids on Berlin, the greatest of all, have been made through weather on which the Germans formerly depended for a breathing spell.

It is natural that we should get exaggerated reports of the effect of bombing on German morale as well as on her industry. The sources available pre-ordain that. But there is no denying that in 1940 Britain bowed her head to the storm and said "we can take it and will come back!" that in 1943 Himmler is executing people for defeatism inspired by the wreckage in western Germany.

While allied aviation leaders have been promising heavier and heavier blows against Germany there has kept recurring the old reminder that, in past years, the weather has restricted important bombing forays to five or six days a month.

How must the Germans feel now, as winter starts, with a shattered hope for help by nature in the west, and Hitler's armies in the east in even worse position than they were in the two previous years?

So far as is publicly known, weather is still the greatest hindrance which air forces have to face. If the allies continue able to ignore it—even use it to help them—Germany is indeed near the end of her fighting potential.

"No enemy plane shall drop its bombs on German soil"—Goering.

for them and when they come they will be no surprise," he said.

American aircraft carriers and undisclosed land bases poured bombers northwestward beyond the Gilberts to pin down air power on Japan's five bases in the Marshalls.

The big enemy air base of Nauru has been so severely blasted by Liberators that it was reported in no shape to figure presently in the operations. Even Ocean island, to the southeast of Nauru, has been pounded.

Makin's 1,000 enemy defenders were reported unable to inflict more than light casualties on troops of the 27th infantry division which opened the swift conquest there Saturday.

Tarawa's much larger Nipponese force dealt somewhat greater punishment to the Second division Marines.

Adm. Nimitz Sees Final Defeat of Japanese in China

By The Associated Press

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Nov. 24—Adm. Chester W. Nimitz is confident of progress against Japan's defense perimeter in the Pacific, but believes that the Japanese "eventually will be defeated from China."

"China with its reservoirs of manpower, potential airfields and proximity to Japan is one of the steps along the road to Tokyo," the commander in chief of U. S. forces in the Pacific said yesterday in an interview.

American forces have closed their first on the Gilbert islands in the central Pacific, but the admiral indicated the Japanese fleet which has made no apparent attempt to contact the United States fleet, may yet accept an engagement.

"We may expect some major action in the Pacific," he said. "The possibility must be kept in mind and we must constantly be prepared for it. So long as Japan's main fleet are intact it behooves us to maintain strength to insure such an engagement will come out favorably for our forces.

"We must not disperse our fleet to permit the Japs to concentrate on any unit which might be weaker than the main enemy fleet."

He declared he was "completely satisfied and very much pleased with the success of the Gilbert operations," and that he believed that "the Japanese air force is being depleted steadily."

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24—The regional war labor board today announced decisions involving firms at Springfield, Canton, Massillon and Navarre.

The board granted 340 employes of the Oliver Farm Equipment Co. of Springfield an increase of two and one-half cents an hour, retroactive to last July 1. Straight-time hourly earnings now average 95 cents, the board reported. The employes are members of the CIO United Automobile Workers.

The order cannot become effective until action is taken on a company statement that "ceiling price relief" is necessary. The office of price administration must determine if such relief is required and if it is, approval must be granted by Fred M. Vinson, director of economic stabilization.

An earlier directive affecting 275 members of the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union at the Weber Dental Manufacturing Co., Canton, was modified to include an agreement between the concern and the union for a general increase of five cents an hour, retroactive to last Feb. 17.

The board denied a demand of the AFL federal labor union for wage increases at the Massillon plant of the American Aggregates Corp., the United Sand & Gravel Co. of Canton and the Massillon Washed Gravel Co. of Navarre. Fifty employes are involved. The WLB directed payment of time and a half for more than eight hours daily and 40 hours a week, but denied the union's request for premium pay on the sixth consecutive day as such.

saw such fires" as those raging in Berlin's streets.

The RAF's smaller loss in the second attack indicated strongly that Berlin's defenses were hard hit in Monday night's raid. (The German high command claimed only 19 British bombers downed.)

This meant the allied attack was gaining in strength and immunity as it moved ahead.

Veterans of the 1940-41 aerial assaults on London were staggered today trying to conceive of the havoc wrought in Berlin by two such heavy attacks in a row.

They compared the situation with that in London the night of May 10, 1941, when it was generally agreed that if the German bombers had returned the next night the chaos would have been virtually unbearable. The May 10 raid on London was scarcely one-fifth the force of Monday night's assault on Berlin.

In relatively clear weather some Nazi night fighters were up last night but even they were fewer than usual in raids on Berlin, RAF pilots said.

Fires from Monday night's attack could be seen 50 miles away by pilots returning to the target a second time.

The raid on Berlin was accompanied by simultaneous assaults on other unspecified targets in western Germany by speedy Mosquito bombers, the bulletin said. Twenty bombers were lost in the night's operations, the air ministry announced—six less than were lost Monday night.

Equals Previous Night

The length of time which the Berlin-bound air armada took to pass over the British coast indicated the raid possibly was on a par with that of the preceding night—when 1,000 of the RAF's biggest aircraft unloaded 2,300 long tons of bombs on the German capital.

It was the RAF's 89th raid on Berlin and the third in the last six days. The persistence with which the British returned to the attack indicated their intention to give Berlin the same treatment earlier accorded Hamburg.

Monday night's attack, which was reported to have set afire or wrecked the homes of Adolf Hitler, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, the Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, made Berlin the world's most bombed capital. The raid brought the bomb tonnage dropped on Berlin so far this year to about 10,000 long tons.

The night blast followed daylight attacks on France. Two Marauders were reported missing.

Swedish dispatches quoted Berliners as saying after the Monday night raid that the German capital "can never recover from this blow." These advices declared that the nerve center of Hitler's government in the Wilhelmstrasse had suffered paralyzing damage.

The foreign office was set ablaze and the British embassy near Unter Den Linden at the end of the Wilhelmstrasse was destroyed.

The newspaper Aftontidningen said preliminary estimates of dead and injured totaled 10,000 and that the Nazis officially announced a "very large number" of casualties.

"There is hardly a window left intact in the center of Berlin," one traveler was quoted as saying in Stockholm. "The streets are covered with glass and masonry, whole window frames were torn out by the force of the explosion. Splinters from the curtain of anti-aircraft fire which the Germans put up, and even parts of British planes, which were blown out of the sky, litter the streets."

Berlin Fires So Hot Asphalt Paving Boils in Streets

By JOHN H. COLBURN
AP War Correspondent

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 24—Berlin was an inferno of indescribable horror where even the asphalt on the pavements was boiling following the RAF's 2,300-ton assault on the Nazi capital Monday night, eyewitnesses reaching Sweden said today.

The city yesterday was "one big fire," one traveler said.

"The heat was so terrible that it was almost impossible to walk or drive on some streets," another witness said. "I saw people collapse on the pavement from the intense heat."

Traveling from the Swedish legation in Berlin to the Tempelhof airdrome was "like going through an inferno," another Swede said.

A man who was eating in the Esplanade restaurant near Potsdamerplatz when the alarm sounded at 7 p. m. Monday, said, "The first alarm was faint and no one intended to go to a shelter, but the restaurant owner came and told us we had to go. The next 10 minutes were quiet and then the walls began to jump and tremble as terrific explosions rocked the city. No one expected to get out alive.

"An hour later we emerged from the shelters to find everything burning. All the windows in the Fuerstenhof were shattered although the nearest bomb fell a quarter of a mile away. It seemed as though a million incendiary bombs were dropped. The planes flew up and down the Tiergarten diplomatic quarter and everything was hit."

TWO CLUBS HEAR OIL CO. OFFICIAL

Paul V. Barrett Speaks at Rotary, Kiwanis Meeting.

Indefinable elements which provide the basis and source of human happiness and achievement were the subject of an address given in the annual pre-Thanksgiving day luncheon meeting of the Marion Rotary and Kiwanis clubs yesterday at Hotel Harding. The speaker was Paul V. Barrett, personnel director of the Ohio Oil company at its headquarters office in Findlay, a widely-known Rotarian who has spoken in Marion on several previous occasions.

His subject, "Etcetera," was taken from the definition of the word "morale" as it appears in the dictionary. The definition reads as follows: "Morale—Condition as affected by or dependent upon, such moral factors as zeal, spirit, hope, confidence, etc."

It was in the final abbreviation, "etc", that Mr. Barrett found the source of thought for his address. Herein, he said, are the indefinable human qualities which make possible the really great and noble things of life. As an example he told of the fortitude and nobility displayed by a mother and father in his home community upon receiving official word that their son was missing in action. "There," he said, "I saw America at its best. It is something that can't be defined."

This "etc.," he said, is made up of those things which differentiate the American people from those of countries under despotic rule. Because of it, Mr. Barrett declared, we have the privilege of saying, "Let us give thanks because we have the capacity to give thanks."

The combined meeting of Rotary and Kiwanis took place on the weekly meeting date of Rotary. School Superintendent E. E. Holt, president of Rotary, presided, assisted by Elandes E. Miller, Kiwanis president. The speaker was introduced by Earl N. Hale, Rotary secretary.

Guests were Sgt. Albert Loeb, Jr., Marion soldier home on furlough, M. H. Mewhorter of Marion, William Kerry of Ada, F. V. Van Sickle of Mt. Gilead, Charles Kirk of Findlay, and Osborne C. Dodson of Chagrin Falls.

Police Control Crowd of Turkey Shoppers

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—A special police detail was called out today to control a crowd of 300 Bronx housewives storming a market where turkeys were reported to be available.

The women, crowding the steel doors of the market, were lined up by police and permitted to enter two-by-two to make their purchase.

Meanwhile, throughout the city, butchers hung "no turkey" signs in their windows and hundreds of men and women queued up at counters in their quest for the Thanksgiving bird.

Faced with the scarcity, many New Yorkers planned to have their dinners tomorrow in restaurants.

American Embassy in Berlin Destroyed

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 24 — The Scandinavian telegraph bureau newspaper Allehanda, quoting a dispatch from Berlin, said today the United States embassy located on Pariser Platz at Brandenburger Tor is "in ruins."

The new Italian and Japanese embassies on Tiergarten strasse are the only ones among those of the belligerent powers to escape destruction or damage, the dispatch said.

Both the Nazi press and radio started screaming today for revenge for the attacks on Berlin.

Seal Drive Makes Encouraging Start

First day's receipts in the 1943 Christmas seal campaign sponsored by the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league were $155, it was announced today by Albert C. May, seal sale chairman. This amount, he states, is $57 over the amount received on the corresponding day last year.

Mr. May and the officers of the sponsoring organization, of which Dr. E. L. [illegible] is president, are highly pleased over the early and generous response to the campaign, which has as a goal the raising of $3,000 to carry on the work in the city and county. "This amount is needed if we are to have an effective program," Mr. May said. "Every effort is being made in Marion county as well as throughout the nation to prevent any increase in the disease during and after the war.

"We well know the task facing us, for tuberculosis always has increased during past wars. But we still have confidence that a substantial increase in the disease can be prevented this time."

This year marks the 37th annual nationwide Christmas Seal Sale.

At 77, Judge K. M. Landis Still Administers Baseball Justice with Stern and Vigorous Hand

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—At an age when most men have retired to a life of quietude, leaving the affairs of business to those younger in years, the amazing 77-year-old Kenesaw Mountain Landis still is vigorously riding herd over the baseball industry.

Recently, feeble rumors have been heard that perhaps the commissioner of baseball should retire, leaving the inference that younger blood may be needed.

But the crisp-speaking, 120-pound baseball chief still remains a symbol of integrity and honesty, keeping vigil over the industry's code, enforcing regulations with a mailed fist and with strict impartiality.

This has been a great, active year for Landis. The Landis-Eastman line for spring training in the north was his first enterprising step, the firing of William D. Cox his second.

Landis barred Cox, former president and director of the Philadelphia Phils, from baseball for life for betting on games in which his club was involved.

The wealthy 34-year-old lumberman, bought the financially embarrassed Phillies from the National league in Feb. 20.

Landis yesterday disclosed that Cox has resigned as president and director of the club Nov. 18 "to devote all my time to war-essential business," that the probe had started in August, and that Cox was notified to report for a hearing on the betting charges in New York, Dec. 4.

Cox, however, refused to attend the hearing, declaring * * * "I do not see any useful purpose could be served by my attending any further hearing before you."

Landis said Cox first asserted that the allegations he had bet on games were "ridiculous," but later on Nov. 3 in New York admitted placing "approximately 15 to 20 bets" of from $25 to $100 per game on Philadelphia to win.

Cox said he had quit wagering about May 20 when he learned of the rule prohibiting such betting by persons connected with the sport.

2 New Team Entries Received in County Basketball League

Two new team entries were received at a meeting last night of the managers of the Y.M.C.A. Men's county and girls' basketball leagues at the Y.

A Claridon outfit entered in the girls' loop bringing to five the total number of feminine clubs and Greenwood church was accepted as the ninth team in the county circuit.

Action in both leagues will commence on the two Y.M.C.A. floors Monday night with a girls' game carded as the opening contest with two men's engagements following. Throughout the season, games will be held on Monday and Tuesday nights of each week.

On Monday nights, the girls game will be played first and Tuesday the feminine tussle will be staged as the second encounter of the evening.

A complete season schedule for the two leagues will be drawn up by Marion Mewhorter, Y.M.C.A. program director, before the inaugural clashes Monday.

Charles Murray was appointed head referee for all games in both leagues this year. Charles Reid, chairman of the officials' committee of the managers' group, announced the appointment.

A discussion on both men's and girls' playing rules was held at the meeting with Murray in charge.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Judge Landis was 77 years old the other day and it was Bill Cox who got the birthday present from the judge. At any rate, when Cox was bounced out of organized baseball, nobody could accuse Branch Rickey of being the brain behind his move.

Sammy Angott's brain trust has rejected plans to make Monday's Angott-Bobby Ruffin fight a 15-rounder, the winner to meet Beau Jack for the lightweight title.

Slow Whistle—Hearing about that Oklahoma Aggies - Arkansas game last Friday, when 80 passes were thrown, Frank Bridges, the football Dodgers' scout and assistant coach, admitted that they really pitch 'em in the southwest. Frank recalled officiating that kind of a game in Oklahoma some years ago and, toward the end, when a pass came sailing down the field with no receiver in sight, the umpire became excited and jumped up to make a perfect catch. "Then he really got confused," said Frank, "while he was just standing there wondering what to do, I patted him on the back and asked, 'Why not give the game back to the boys?'"

County High Schools Open Cage Season with 5 Games

Kirkpatrick, Morral, Caledonia, Claridon and Agosta Win First Contests of Year.

A five-game schedule last night uncorked the 1943-44 basketball league season for the Marion county school league. Kirkpatrick, Morral, Caledonia, Claridon and Agosta emerged as winners of the opening contests.

Closest game of the night was Kirkpatrick's one-point victory over Green Camp, 27-26. Kelley tallied 13 points for Kirk, Hammon 14 for Green Camp. The Kirkpatrick Reserves scored a 19-2 victory over Green Camp.

Liveliest scoring contest last night was Morral's 52-22 victory over Waldo. G. Barkley with 11 points and Roberts and Fetter with 10 each contributed to Morral's big total. Dutt scored 7 for Waldo. The Morral reserves won 35 to 28.

Another close game was Caledonia's 26-23 victory over Prospect in which Walt scored 13 points for the winners while Lauer of Prospect crowded him for individual honors with 13. Prospect reserves won 24 to 16.

Claridon tallied up a 36-5 victory over Meeker, with A. Augenstein contributing 15 points and D. Augenstein 13 toward Claridon's total. Claridon won the junior high game, 29-14.

Agosta came out on top of a lively scrap with Martel, 29-21, with the aid of Withrow's 10 points. Martin with 7 set the pace for Martel. Agosta reserves won 27-25.

LaRue, last year's champion, was idle last night.

Brown Not Counting on Return of 1943 Gridders Next Season

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24—Paul Brown isn't counting on the return of any Ohio State football player next fall—even the coach isn't certain he'll be around.

"After all, I'm of draftable age," the 35-year-old pilot of the Buckeyes told a group of Ohio State alumni and guests at the organization's annual football dinner last night.

Brown said he didn't expect any immediate call to service. He has three children and is presently classified in 3-A.

Ohio State will rely on boys just out of high school in fashioning a team next year, Brown declared.

"We started this season with 46 players and we finished with 37," he remarked. "Of these, at least 30 will be gone very shortly. Many of them are in the air corps reserve. There was no 'senior tackle' this year for the boys who are graduating, and we couldn't elect a captain for 1944 for we don't know who is going to be there."

The coach said he had "no apology for this year's team. It fought as tough a fight as any team ever fought. We never went into a game in which we didn't expect to give the other team a licking. Our boys always thought the other fellows were just lucky. We never allowed them to know what they didn't have, and played it out to the bitter end."

Brown admitted he was a tough loser but "regardless of what you may have heard, I never condemned any team for running up a score on us. Part of the reason for the big Michigan score against us, 45 to 7, was our own fault. We kept trying to score and giving the ball away rather than playing safe to keep down the score."

The Buckeye coach listed a tentative 1944 schedule of games with Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Pittsburgh and Michigan at home, and Wisconsin, Northwestern and Illinois on the road. He emphasized, however, that the schedule was subject to change.

Holiday Treat

You couldn't ask for a better evening's entertainment to top off festive Thanksgiving celebrations than the fast moving wrestling card which has been booked by Les Fishbaugh for the Armory on West Church street tonight.

One of the mat's most powerful men, Morris Shapiro, and Rene La Bell, the popular and sportsman-like French-Canadian, will supply the fireworks for the two-hour main go. The semi-final contest isn't destined to take a back seat especially with a couple of roughians like Jackie Nickols and Joe Wolfe of Columbus as opponents.

In the one-fall preliminary, scheduled to get under way at 8:30, Buddy Knox, the short-tempered Nashvillian, will trade holds with Dory Funk, one of the new set of rasslers currently making headway in the sport. Funk is a former Indiana U. grappler, and a disciple of the Billy Thom school of wrestling. —Adv.

GALION, Nov. 24 — Preliminary plans were made for a Christmas project at the monthly meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday at Hotel Talbott. A citywide program to be presented Dec. 23 on the public square is the plan of the association.

R. B. Wiseman presided for the meeting at which time other projects were also discussed.

The program was in charge of Marvin Adams. This consisted of a talk about Mexico given by Attorney D. C. Talbott and a football movie shown by Coach James Lymper of Galion High school.

THANKSGIVING 1943

In the midst of a world-wide war with its losses and distress, we still have much for which to be thankful. Our beautiful land has not been scarred by bombs or shells; our bountiful crops have not been destroyed. We have health—and our boys and girls in the armed forces have the best of medical care. Whatever our activities may be, let's not be too busy this Thanksgiving Day to express our appreciation to the Great Provider and restate our Faith in the principles of Freedom for which we fight.

APPAREL FOR MEN and YOUNG MEN

Nine Become U. S. Citizens

[illegible] Others Take Part in Examinations Today in Marion Co.; Ceremony Welcomes Class.

[illegible] persons, six women and [illegible] men, took the oath of allegiance to the United States and [illegible] papers certifying their [illegible] in the United States [illegible] successfully completing examinations before Elbert J. [illegible]nd, acting naturalization [illegible] of Columbus Tuesday [illegible] common pleas courtroom [illegible] afternoon and this [illegible] Mr. Scantland conducted [illegible] for 23 men and [illegible] who will become citizens [illegible] country upon the completion [illegible] investigations required by [illegible] provided they have given a [illegible] account of themselves [illegible] test.

[illegible] more than 30 men and [illegible] who appeared before the [illegible] Tuesday and today constitute one of the largest groups examined at one time in [illegible] of the county, the authorities believe. As on former [illegible] the nine new citizens [illegible] welcomed by members of [illegible] Marion County Bar association, Judge Hector S. Young, and representatives of Captain William [illegible] Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution.

Group Complimented

[illegible] Scantland, Judge Young and [illegible] Reed complimented the applicants upon their preparation for [illegible] citizens of this country and also praised the work of Miss [illegible] Thornberg, who has been [illegible] classes in citizenship [illegible] several years and who was [illegible] instructor for the group. The [illegible] thoroughness with which the prospective citizens had prepared themselves was demonstrated [illegible] Elmer E. Smith, county clerk of courts, administered the oath of allegiance. Instead of repeating it individually in phrases after the clerk, the group as a whole, repeated the entire oath [illegible] he had spoken the first few [illegible].

In commenting on the class Mr. Scantland said that the men and women were exceptionally well prepared in all questions asked and recommended that all be admitted to citizenship.

Mr. Reed, representing the Bar association, extended a welcome and presented Mrs. C. L. Rutherford, regent of Captain William Hendricks Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, who also extended a welcome. Mrs. George E. Frank, representing the chapter, presented each person with a citizenship manual and an American Flag from the chapter and gave a brief talk.

Judge Young, speaker for the Bar association, emphasized the importance of becoming citizens and the obligations of citizenship, particularly at a time when the country is engaged in a war.

Public Looks On

In the large audience which practically filled the common pleas courtroom were pupils of the civics class from St. Mary Parochial High school and pupils from the Pleasant Township High school. Upon the completion of the exercises the new citizens received the congratulations from the court officials and many in the audience. In the afternoon they returned to the clerk of court's office where they received certificates of citizenship.

The following persons received certificates: Mrs. Maddalena Anna Nolfi, 37, of 940 Congress street, native of Brognora, Italy, came to the United States in 1927; Mrs. Mayme Manzo, 44, of 176 West Columbia street, native of Trabia, Italy, came to this country in 1911; Saverio Tuzа, 61, of 150 Scioto street, native of Monreale Italy, came here in 1904; Mrs. Louise Oehler, 45, of Prospect R. 1, native of Clecbroun, Germany, came here in 1924; Mrs. Margaret Genevieve Beaudoin, 31, of 378½ North Main street, native of Fairville, St. John's, Canada, came here in 1923; William James Veness, 48, of 445 Cherry street, native of Winchelsea, Sussex, England, came here in 1922; Harry Bascos, 61, native of Stemnitsa Corginis, Greece, came here in 1902; Mrs. Frieda Amelia Ann Finley, 29, of 189 Sharp street, native of Pelee Island, Ontario, Canada, came here in 1936; Mrs. Marianna Siebersen, 38, of 630 Girard avenue, native of Atzgersdorf, Austria, came here in 1924.

SCHOOL CHAPEL SERVICE

A Thanksgiving chapel service was held by the fifth and sixth grade pupils of Forest Lawn school this morning. Psalm 92, Verses 1 to 5, was read and prayer was followed by a reading by Suzanne Terzo. Each grade sang a group of songs. The sixth grade English club gave a program including piano solos by Virginia Augenstein, Anita Kaelber and Margie Peifer, cornet solo by Joseph Slanser, reading of Psalm 100 and Thanksgiving poem by Melvin Noggle, Joan Davis and Veronna Stephens. FAREWELL HELD BY SCIOTO PLANT GROUP

Hunkin-Conkey Group Have Dinner.

The Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., winding up war plant construction work for the second time in Marion, held a farewell party Tuesday night at Hotel Harding. The company first came to build Scioto Ordnance Plant, then returned early in the summer to convert it into an ammunition plant, having employed some 600 men for several months to make the conversion, which was nearly completed when the government recently issued a stop order halting construction.

More than 125 persons attended the dinner and dance in the Hotel Harding ball room and heard brief talks following the dinner. Lieut. Col. R. W. Lockridge, formerly area engineer when the plant was built and now assigned at Edmonton, Canada, Lieut. Col. Andrew L. Fabens, now area engineer, Marion E. Hawk, general superintendent for Hunkin-Conkey in the conversion program, and Gustave Hirsch of Columbus, head of the electrical sub-contracting firm, were among the speakers. William F. Brickman was toastmaster.

The Masqueraders from Columbus provided music for dancing.

COL. BRANNON PRAISES CO. H

Compliments Guard Unit at Inspection: Other Regimental Officers Here.

Regimental officers of the Ohio State Guard from Columbus, headed by the commander, Col. Earl W. Brannon, conducted the annual inspection of Co. H, local guard unit, Tuesday evening at the Armory.

Early in the afternoon Col. Brannon with members of the regimental staff inspected the Armory and property. They included Lt. Col. W. A. Drake, administrative officer; Captain R. R. Rine, adjutant; Lt. E. F. McDowell, intelligence officer; Captain Clarence Stevens regimental supply officer and commander of headquarters and supply company; Lt. A. T. Frank, Master Sgt. J. E. Oberting and Staff Sgt. C. J. Mehrle, all officers of headquarters and supply division.

Group at Dinner

Following the afternoon inspection the regimental officers were entertained by Capt. Carl Ebert, Lt. Elmer E. Smith and Lt. Dale Price with a 6 o'clock dinner at Hotel Harding. Captain H. R. Lee of the interior security division of the Fifth Service Command stationed at Ft. Hayes, Columbus, who accompanied the regimental officers on the inspection and Dr. Thomas Sutherland, one of the local medical examiners also attended the dinner. Lt. Col. P. L. Cordray, regimental medical officer was present for the evening inspection.

A review of the personnel was held during the regular drill period with the following battalion officers joining the regimental staff for the inspection. Lt. Col. Albert C. Rankin of London, O., battalion commander; Sgt. Eugene Rousch of Marysville, battalion staff sergeant and Sgt. Rodney Pickens of Delaware, battalion mess sergeant.

Following the review, Col. Brannon spoke to the members saying, "there is no better company now in the Second Regiment and I would not hesitate to call on this Marion unit in any emergency." He commented on their uniforms and their conduct, stressing their appearance during maneuvers. Capt. Lee said that considering the length of time spent in drill practice, Co. H compared favorably with companies in regular Army camps. He also told the men they were helping to lease more than 180,000 soldiers for overseas duty who might otherwise be stationed here for home protection.

Company Praised

Each of the other officers spoke briefly saying that Co. H could be proud of its record.

A short true and false quiz was held by Col. Brannon for the non-commissioned officers following the drill. Official rating of the company on both the inspection and the quiz will be returned from headquarters to Capt. Ebert.

Drill attendance was 94 per cent for the inspection with only three guardsmen absent.

Other guests were: Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. Rousch and Mrs. Pickens, who accompanied their husbands; Sgt. Francis Cook, a former member who is home on furlough, Mrs. Donald Neimeister of Marion, Lonnie Neimeister, Len Lanter and Carl Blague, all of Cincinnati.

BUCYRUS—Relatives of Dr. H. J. Bohrman, native of Bucyrus and former practicing dentist in Galion, have received word of his promotion from the rank of first lieutenant to captain in the U. S. army air forces technical training school.

A 10-ton pontoon bridge requires 3,200 pounds of synthetic rubber.

PRAISED BY HULL. Maj. Gen. John R. Deane (above) was the head of the United States military mission which Secretary of State Hull, reporting to Congress on the Moscow pacts, praised as "highly competent" in working toward closer cooperation in the war on Germany.

MAP POST-WAR PLAN TO RULE GERMANY

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 22—Allied consideration of a post-war political and economic structure for Germany is expected to be speeded up as a result of the meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Joseph Stalin which, according to reports from America, is believed to be imminent.

Following a preliminary exchange of views by the three chiefs of state, this problem, involving peace-enforcement and control of German industry, is likely to be submitted to the new European advisory commission in London for joint study.

Partition of Germany into several states with decentralized industries has been proposed in various quarters, but this solution appears to have gained little support among advisers of the three governments.

Root of the problem is the allied intention to disarm Germany and prevent use of her industries for manufacture of warplanes, tanks and guns in the future. With some system of control implied in any such project, the American, British and presumably the Soviet governments have been studying possibilities which they are guarding against premature disclosure.

GALION—Announcement has been received here of the birth of a daughter on Nov. 11, at White Cross hospital in Columbus, to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sherman of Centerburg. The mother is the former Patricia Willis of Galion.

LEGION SCOUT TROOP AWARDS PRESENTED

Court of Honor and Charter Ceremony Held.

Boy Scout Troop No. 5 conducted its annual court of honor and awarded merit badges and marks of recognition Tuesday night in the headquarters of its sponsor, Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, American Legion.

The Scout program was held in connection with a regular session of the Legion, was in charge of Charles Howard, chairman of the troop committee. Parents of members of Troop 5 were guests.

Principal speaker was Hugh Hay, Harding area Scout executive, who emphasized the value of community cooperation in civic affairs and in the Boy Scout program. He reported an increase of 70 per cent in membership in the Harding area.

Presents Charter

Mr. Hay presented the new charter of Troop 5 to Chairman Howard, for Bird-McGinnis Post. Short talks by Dr. A. J. Wagner, scoutmaster, and Harold Nussbaum, assistant, preceded presentation of certificates to members of the troop by Dr. Wagner.

Merit badges were presented by E. M. Breithaupt to Dan Smith and Robert Mason of Troop 5 and Leland Barnhart of Troop 7. Scouts Floyd Webb and Dan Smith were advanced to the Star rank, and Scout Webb also received two merit badges. One Life rank award was made by proxy to James Wanner, who was ill. The presentation was made to his mother, Mrs. William Wanner.

Membership in the Cordon of Honor, a distinction extended to only six Boy Scouts in the history of the sponsorship of Troop 5 by Bird-McGinnis Post, was awarded through Chairman Howard to Robert Mason, junior assistant scoutmaster. The award includes emblem of the American Legion.

Tribute to Sgt. McGinnis

Troop 5 extended a tribute to the late Sgt. Eugene McGinnis, former assistant scoutmaster of the organization, when the assemblage stood in a period of silence, followed by the blowing of taps by Scout James Wagner. Sgt. McGinnis was killed while returning from a bombing mission over Europe.

Two vocal numbers were given by Billy Wagner, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. A. J. Wagner.

Leo Miers, former junior assistant scoutmaster, who will leave next week for service in the Navy, received gifts from Troop 5, presented by Miles Doyle. Members of the troop committee given recognition by Chairman Howard are D. J. MacDonald, E. M. Breithaupt, Paul Hinze, William Arndt and Clifford Chapman. In a brief meeting of the Legion, which preceded the Scout court of honor, Commander J. L. Ralston heard reports of the Legion membership campaign. Refreshments were served to the Scouts and other guests.

Central Labor Union Votes War Chest Gift

A $25 donation to the Marion County United War Chest was voted by the Central Labor Union at a regular meeting last night.

GRAIN PRICES HIT BY PROFIT TAKING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—Profit taking got the better of the grain market today, prices dropping more than a cent at times in wheat and rye while oats and barley declined fractionally. Buying was restricted in all pits on the possibility of important international developments over the Thanksgiving holiday. Passage by the house of anti-subsidy legislation late yesterday had been discounted in the recent advance.

Plans for Post-War Fund Announced to K. of C.

Plans for raising a fund for post-war religious work for the Cincinnati archdiocese were announced Tuesday night at a meeting of Marion Council No. 671, Knights of Columbus. Father William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church, said the quota for the archdiocese is $500,000 and that local allotments will be announced later. Joseph Dunn, grand knight of Marion council, appointed a committee to help in raising the funds when the campaign is opened.

The charter was draped in memory of Patrick Kelly, a member, who died recently.

It was announced that there would be a dinner for members and their wives in Moira hall Dec. 12, and that the Cheerio club had been granted permission to hold a dance in the lodge rooms on Friday night.

SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

Miss Margaret Huffman was a guest speaker at a special Thanksgiving assembly at Central Junior High school this morning. A recognition assembly honoring the victorious Central football team was held Tuesday. Vic Dorris, coach at Harding High school spoke.

There are about 700 commissioned experts in dietetics and nutrition in the Army Medical department.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I MADE no reply to my father's statement, for I knew he [illegible] [illegible] expected [illegible].

[illegible] myself I [illegible] "I [illegible] to see Steve [illegible]."

The [illegible] of my last meeting [illegible] [illegible] hoped that [illegible] [illegible] the last [illegible] [illegible] effectually [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] myself sitting on the edge [illegible] waiting for what he [illegible].

"In the first place," the "Chief" [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] "I think the [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] the last piece of the jig-saw puzzle has fallen into place."

Both Excited

[illegible] each other, and his hand [illegible] over mine as it clenched the arm of the chair. I felt his grip tighten as he [illegible] father's pronouncement, [illegible] knew that beneath his [illegible] [illegible] he was as [illegible] as I was behind my own mask of calmness.

"When Mary, that memorable night at the restaurant, found out that Steve had received some document of importance," my father began, "and then deduced that he had hidden it in his shoe, and finally lured Steve to your apartment, Margaret, she rendered the greatest individual service to my plan for trapping these traitors that I had yet received.

"Then the accident of Noel's discovery of Steve in Mary's company, his misunderstanding of the situation, and his knockdown blow rendering Steve unconscious, were more manna from heaven, for, as you remember, I was able to extract that document from Steve's shoe to have it copied—with certain errors rendering it useless to the man for whom it was intended—and finally to put the copied document back in the shoe before Milner arrived in his frantic search for Steve, and, as we surmised, for the paper. We know that Milner removed the document, for it was in the shoe when he was left alone with Steve and was gone when he left a few minutes later."

Spencer Pauses

He paused for a few seconds that seemed interminable hours, and again I felt Dicky's hand gripping mine.

"You remember, of course," he resumed, "that Milner, trailed by my men, flew to Washington a few hours afterward, and that I also made a trip to the capitol. It was at that time that I began to twitch a few filaments leading to the center of the web in which lurks the spider I mean to lure out and crush. And even Marion's rescue may have to wait upon that, although I trust not."

A little shiver at the inexorability in his voice went over me. But I knew that Marion's fate was weighing on his heart and conscience as much as it was on ours, and that if it were humanely possible for him to accomplish it without interfering with his "crushing of the spider," he would not delay that deliverance by even a minute.

Tuberculosis Fight

AGAIN WE remind you at this Thanksgiving season of the importance of supporting the National Tuberculosis Association in its fight on tuberculosis. That is a war that must go forward no matter what other wars are on hand. It has paid good dividends and will continue to do so.

I mentioned yesterday that the reasons for our success in combating tuberculosis were several: improved methods of diagnosis, earlier treatment, more beds in tuberculosis sanitaria, and active case finding.

The active case finding is still only partially carried out. When we have an opportunity to examine nearly all of the members of one generation, as we had recently in the army examinations, we do a fairly thorough job, but we examined only the male members of the generation, (with the exception of our comrades, the WACs, WAVES, etc.), and there weren't enough of them to do a thorough job.

We examine, it is true, the students that enter our universities, the applicants for jobs in most industries and factories, but still this is not a thorough enough job. We should organize to examine every person in the country to see whether any tuberculosis is present or not.

In that way we could eliminate it because we could eliminate the source. Which means that with the exception of a few cases of bovine tuberculosis still transmitted by milk, tuberculosis is contracted by one person from another person who is an active case.

Most of these infections occur in infancy and childhood. A perfectly innocent and doting parent, brother or sister, unaware that they have the germs in their saliva and their breath, gives the infection to the youngest member of the household. It probably doesn't show up for 20 years or more. Tuberculosis is a very slowly developing disease. But in most instances when you find an active case in a person of 20 you can trace it back to the childhood infection by parent, brother or sister.

These are not pleasant facts to face, but they are facts and if we are to rid the world of tuberculosis we must accept them and act upon them.

Some weeks ago in this column I stated that an adult was in little danger of getting tuberculosis. Several people wrote me protesting this, among them the director of the National Tuberculosis Association, and I agree that I probably put the subject too strongly. It is true that since our great advances in the conquest of tuberculosis we are finding a different reaction group among the young adult population. In other words, we eliminated so much tuberculosis since twenty years ago that they were never exposed in childhood but only in adult life.

This means, of course, that we should make frequent examinations on nurses in tuberculosis hospitals, medical students and others. It is another method of case finding in a limited and definitely exposed group.
